

U.S. government obligations information

Important tax information for 2016

This tax update contains information to help your clients properly report state and local tax liability on income distributions they received from their mutual fund investments in 2016.

On the next page, you'll find a list of Vanguard funds that earned a portion of their investment income from obligations of the U.S. government. Direct U.S. government obligations and obligations of certain U.S. government agencies are generally exempt from taxation in most states.¹ To the right of each fund name, you'll find columns:

- Column 1. Percentage of the fund's total income derived from U.S. government obligations in 2016.

Clients should check with their state or local tax offices or with a tax advisor to determine whether their state allows them to exclude some or all of the income they earn from mutual funds that invest in U.S. government obligations. If their state allows an exclusion, refer to this column for the percentage of income that may be excluded for each fund in which they are invested.²

- Column 2. Percentage of the fund's assets invested in U.S. government obligations as of December 31, 2016.

Certain states and municipalities require residents to pay intangible or personal property tax. If your clients are required to pay either of these taxes, they should refer to this column for the percentage that may be excluded from these taxes for each fund in which they are invested.
